

I am writing to strongly oppose the FCC's proposal to allow cell phone use on an aircraft during flight. It is not a flight attendant's job to police the use of cell phone's during flight. If cell phone use were allowed it would take the focus away from other important security and safety measures already performed by flight attendant's. There is no evidence showing that cell phone use does NOT jeopardize the transmittal of the aircraft's navigational functions. During a time where hightened security is a must, this is a step in the opposite direction. It leaves another open door for terrorists to step in and take over our skies once again. Please don't allow this to happen. Thank you.
